Stick Man Comes Alive on Stage at TRW!

Stick Man, the lovable stick character from the children's picture book by Julia Donaldson and Axel Scheffler (The Gruffalo, The Snail and the Whale) appears Live on Stage in a heart-warming story adapted from the book. The show tells the story of Stick Man who lives in a 'family tree, with his stick lady love and their stick children three...' Three actors use puppets and live music to magically re-create the colourful characters and animals.

One day whilst out for a jog, Stick Man is pounced on by a playful dog. Mistaken for an ordinary stick, he is swept far away, being used for all sorts of things from a flag mast to a cricket bat, a snowman's arm to firewood (almost!). As his adventure unfolds, Stick Man, lost and alone, wonders if he will ever get back to the family tree.

Stick Man – Live on Stage is witty and charming production about the importance of family and what it is like to be misunderstood, and is suitable for children from 3+ and their families. The show is presented by Scamp Theatre, the team behind Michael Morpurgo's Aesop's Fables, Private Peaceful and The Mozart Question.

'I think the quality of what Scamp (Theatre) do is amazing' Michael Morpurgo, The Independent
